TOPIC: Why some students use AI more than others

Broad question: Is heavy AI use about pressure, the easy way out, or what everyone else does, and what holds some students back?

Main question: How does how much students use AI depend on their obligations outside school, what they do when stuck, what holds them back, and how much they think classmates use it?

1. If you have been working on a homework problem for 15 minutes without making any progress, what action are you most likely to take in each of the following scenarios?

Situation /choice	Trying on my own	Seek help from a classmate or TA	Ask AI for a hint or explanation	Ask AI for the complete solution	Leave the problem as incomplete
When you have more than enough time to finish your assignment before the deadline
When you have just enough time to finish your assignment before the deadline
When you don't have enough time to finish your assignment before the deadline

2. When you are working on a homework assignment, how much does each of these keep you from using AI?

Thought/Scale	Not at all	A little	somewhat	A lot
I want to learn the material myself
I need to be able to do it without AI later
I don’t trust its answers
My class rules don't allow it
I feel like I am cheating
I don't know how to use it well

3. How often do you use AI in the given example to study

	I use it very often	I use it sometimes	I use it rarely	I don't use AI for this	Prefer Not to Answer
Reviewing Lecture Slides
Doing homework for STEM related subjects (ex. Math or Physics)
Doing writing based assignments (ex. English or Psychology)
Creating Practice Problems
Reviewing tests to understand how you made a calculation mistake (ex. Math or Physics)
Reviewing written works or tests to understand where you made a mistake or can improve (ex. English or Psychology)

Asking Questions/Clarifying
Asking for definitions

4. Which of the following best describes the main reason you use AI for schoolwork, or the main reason you don't
